3 DONATE

Make a donation of $10 or more.

Nebraska Catholic Day of Giving is an initiative of the Archdiocese of Omaha, Diocese of Lincoln, and Diocese of Grand Island, intended as a day of generosity and kindness fueled by the power of social media and collaboration. All of our parishes and schools will be taking part in this year's Day of Giving—simply find us with a search!

ALL
donations will be directed to our youth and religious education programs, to be utilized as most needed.

Please note: any donations go directly to the parish and/or school you selected, not an overall "pool." You may also make donations directly to your parish or school of choice by check or cash. Thank you for your generous donations!

FROM THE DESK OF FATHER STARMAN—

Dear Parishioners and Friends of the Catholic Parishes of Western Holt and Boyd Counties,

The gospel for this weekend (Luke 24 35-48) has many resonances with the gospel for the Second Sunday of Easter (John 20: 19-31). In both accounts, the risen Christ appears to the disciples and stands “in their midst.” In both, his first words are “Peace be with you.” And then he shows them his hands, feet, and side. In both accounts the disciples move from terror to joy. Both stories end with a sending of the disciples into mission.

Despite the similarities, the theological emphasis in the two accounts is quite different. Luke’s focus is on the identity of the risen Christ and his reality and tangibility. Unlike the story of Thomas in John’s Gospel which focuses on believing, in the Gospel of Luke, the reason for the disciples seeing and touching Jesus’s hands and feet is to convince them that the Risen One is the same Jesus who was crucified, and still bears the marks on his body, though he is real and alive. Jesus is not just a memory that lives on, nor is he a haunting ghost; instead, he is truly alive and tangible in bodily form.

In the second half of Luke’s Gospel, the focus shifts to the mission of the disciples to be witnesses to the suffering Messiah who is raised. Key to being a witness is understanding of the Scriptures, as well as repentance and forgiveness of sins. These same emphases are echoed in this weekend’s first reading (Acts 3:13-15). Peter’s speech is set in Solomon’s portico in the temple; it follows his healing of a man who was crippled and who begged daily at the “Beautiful Gate.” Peter harshly accuses his fellow Jews, placing on them all the blame for handing over Jesus and putting to death the “author of life.” But the gospel writer’s focus is not on fixing blame for the death of Jesus; rather, the focus is on God’s power in raising Jesus.

Peter excuses all those who were complicit in Jesus’s death, saying that they acted out of ignorance. This is similar to what the Lukan Jesus does as he prays from the cross, “Father forgive them; they know not what they do: (23:34). Luke consistently portrays Jesus as a rejected prophet and explains his death as the fulfillment of Scripture. The notion of a suffering Messiah, found in the first reading and gospel, is one that occurs only in Lukan writings, (Luke 24:26, 46; Acts 3:18; 17:3; 26:23); it is not found in any Old Testament texts.

Immediately linked to the affirmation that the Messiah must suffer is the invitation to repentance and forgiveness. Repentance and acceptance of forgiveness are not guilt-induced; it is the only adequate response to God’s gift of new life offered in restored relationship with the risen Christ. Witnessing this love and power begins at home (Jerusalem) and then radiates out to “all the nations.”

I would like to express a word of gratitude and thanks to all those who helped to make our Holy Week and Easter liturgies so beautiful. The liturgical environments and the music were beautiful. Those who served in ministerial roles as readers, altar servers, sacristans, accompanists, cantors and choir members were all well prepared and I appreciate your offering your time and talents. There is much that happens “behind the scenes” especially during Holy Week with all the different types and styles of environment that we have to make in short periods of time. Thanks to all who help with this important ministry!

Ad multos annos!

Pastor
